The FOSSASIA OpenTechSummit is Asia's leading Open Source conference for young developers, companies, and IT professionals.

FOSSASIA held its first summit in 2009 in Vietnam. The main event takes place in Singapore since 2015. Other events are run in Thailand, Myanmar and India. FOSSASIA is the first stop for young developers to learn about open source development, dev tools and business opportunities in tech. For example one third of the Github top 100 developers in India are FOSSASIA members.

Our 2021 online summit attracted over 3100 registered attendees. The top reasons for attending are an interest in technology development, recruitment (both recruiters and job seekers), and business networking.

Asia's best and brightest technologists gather at the FOSSASIA Summit.
